Message from Valerie

This Sunday we join the first disciples as they are called by Jesus. Fishers by trade, they encounter Jesus.

He asks them, “What are you looking for?”

They respond with a question: “Rabbi, where are you staying?”

And Jesus answers, “Come and see.”

That’s quite an exchange—crisp, poignant, zinging. Just what are we looking for, really? What are you looking for in life? We’ll take a look at this exchange and hear Jesus’ invitation for our own lives.

A word of thanks to the countless people who made our Christmas season so meaningful. There are many small practical details that volunteers tend to, as well as the “big programs.” You know who you are. Thank you. And if you missed Christmas Eve worship, you can click here and fast forward to the 48 minute mark to hear the stunning gift that was offered by opera singer and RUC member John Tessier as he sang O Holy Night and transformed our worship into the heavenly realms.

See you Sunday,

Valerie
